Ofsted

Mrs Mackenzie was delighted to attend a celebration lunch in London last week. This was held by Ofsted to recognise schools which were designated as "Outstanding" during their last inspection. Christine Gilbert, Her Majesty's Chief Inspector for Schools, was very keen to praise the entire team at all the schools which were represented. We would like to take this opportunity to thank all the members of the school community who work hard to make our school an Outstanding Provider of Education for our pupils. Staff, governors, volunteer helpers, Shipmates, outside agencies and families all contribute towards the success of Hilltop Infant School and help to make it such a wonderful place.
